Christmas lights with a bang!

White Lion Walk sponsors fireworks at Guildford's Christmas light switch on.

On Thursday 24th November, Guildford's Christmas lights were officially switched on, but even the most spectacular events have to go out with a bang and this year was no exception.

During the lead up to the big day White Lion Walk teamed up with the Surrey Advertiser to find one lucky winner to push the button on the firework display and this year our winner was 12 year old Matthew Hawkins. In true celebrity style Matthew was invited to meet the Mayor of Guildford and the star of The Yvonne Arnaud Theatre's Pantomime, Bonnie Langford for a photocall before being whisked onto the platform to push the all important button that saw the festive season start with a colourful bang.

Steve Cotney, Centre Manager at White Lion Walk said: "We have sponsored the fireworks for some years now and this year's display was truly spectacular. White Lion Walk prides itself on being a central point of the community and with the help of our competition winner Matthew it was a pleasure to provide the people of Guildford with this year's sparkling entertainment."
