

White Lion Walk unveils a new take on Lionel the Lion!

15 year old girl is commissioned to paint a new feature for Guildford's Shopping Centre.

White Lion Walk Shopping Centre was delighted to announce that on Saturday 27th November a stunning painting of the centre's mascot, Lionel the Lion was unveiled. The painting was revealed by its creator, 15 year old Charlie Sullivan who was commissioned to create the piece following her success in a previous design competition held by White Lion Walk.

Charlie was joined by one of Britain's most cherished wildlife artists and conservationists, David Shepherd, as she has kindly donated part of her fee to his foundation's, Gir Lion project. The project helps motivate and train the frontline staff who are making a big difference in protecting the critically endangered Asiatic lion.

Centre Manager of White Lion Walk, Steve Cotney, commented: "We were delighted to unveil our new painting of Lionel the Lion. We were so impressed with Charlie's talent during our pantomime design competition last year that we couldn't wait to commission her to create a piece of artwork around our mascot. The piece is absolutely stunning and will create a fabulous new focal point for our shoppers."
